

Native Lit and E-Portfolios

Native American Community Academy (NACA)

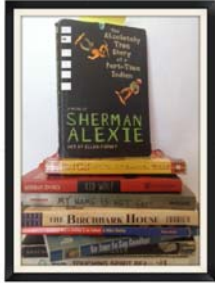

Albuquerque, NM

Michelle Sprouse sprouse@nacaschool.org
Val Siow – siow_v@nacaschool.org
Sarah Caldwell – caldwell@nacaschool.org
Josh Krause – joshua@nacainspireschools.org

Slide

Notes and Questions

© 2015 by ASCD

Native Lit and e-Portfolios

Valerie Siow slow_v@nacaschool.org
Sarah Caldwell caldwell@nacaschool.org
Michelle Sprouse sprouse@nacaschool.org
Josh Krause joshua@nacainspireschools.org

Essential Question: Why portfolios?

- I. Stories to Anchor Our Work
(5 min)
- II. Context: PD to Support
Critique, Autonomy and Change
(5 min)
- III. Why portfolios? (10 min)
- IV. NL Portfolios at NACA (10
min)
- V. Student Work (10 min)
- VI. Q and A

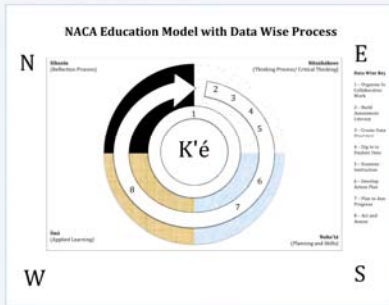

Stories of Student Growth

Slide

Notes and Questions

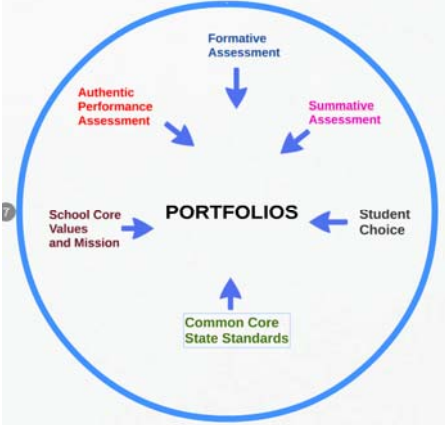

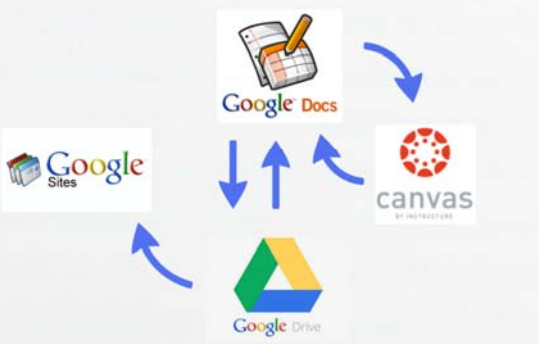

PD to Support Autonomy and Change

A screenshot of the ASCD website's "PD ONLINE" section. The navigation bar includes "About ASCD", "Books & Publications", "Educational Leadership", "Conferences", and "Prof". The main heading is "ONLINE COURSES FOR TEACHERS". Under "New Courses", there is a list: "Building Teachers' Capacity for Success: Instructional Coaching Essentials", "Total Participation Techniques", and "Assessment and Student Success in a Differentiated Classroom". A "View All Courses" link is present. Below the list are links for "Course Features", "Course Catalog", and "LMS Features". The "PD ONLINE" logo is also visible, with the tagline "AWARD-WINNING ONLINE COURSES FROM ASCD".

Native Literature at NACA

Slide	Notes and Questions
 A circular diagram with 'PORTFOLIOS' in the center. Six arrows point towards it from the following elements: 'Formative Assessment' (top), 'Authentic Performance Assessment' (top-left), 'Summative Assessment' (top-right), 'School Core Values and Mission' (left), 'Student Choice' (right), and 'Common Core State Standards' (bottom).
Criteria  A collection of icons representing criteria: a book, a document with a pencil, a person speaking, an ear, and a person thinking (silhouette with a thought bubble).
Systems  A diagram showing interconnected systems: 'Google Sites', 'Google Docs', 'Google Drive', and 'Canvas'. Arrows indicate relationships: Google Sites to Google Docs, Google Docs to Google Drive, Google Drive to Canvas, and Canvas to Google Docs.

Slide	Notes and Questions
8th Grade Portfolios
6th Grade Portfolios	